Forex Hacked and Forex Hacked Pro can run the risk of hitting a margin call. It’s highly important that you understand and accept this fact before trading with real money and only risk what you can afford to lose. You should only expect realistic gains if you want to be as safe as possible. Trying to double your equity every month is possible but runs a very high risk of seeing a margin call if things go badly. Aim for 5-10% per month to be very safe, 10-20% to be moderately safe and anything higher gets riskier and riskier!

Forex Hacked Pro Installation Guide

WARNING #1: Make sure you read about the settings and recommended account sizes before using this EA!

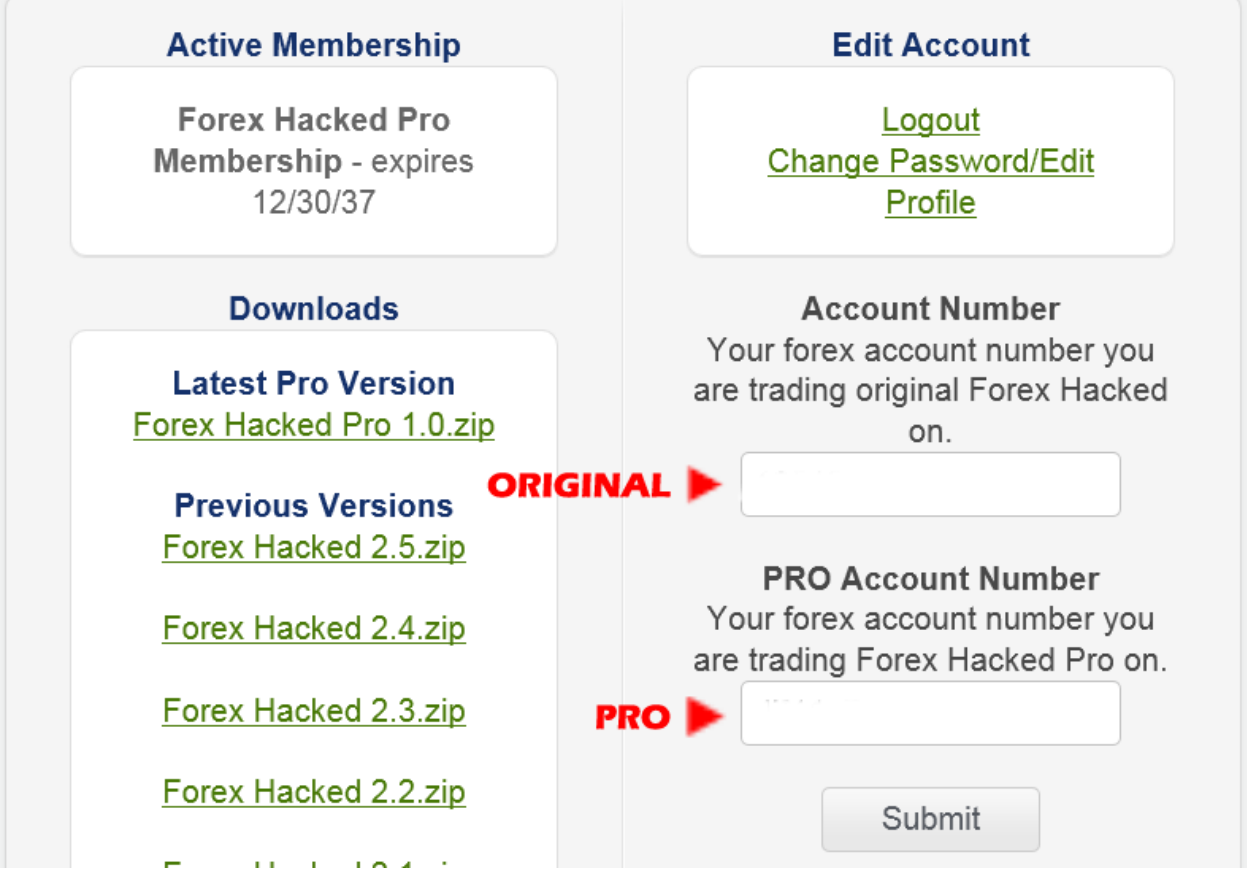

WARNING #2: Forex Hacked will work on one LIVE account at a time, and that is the account number you have inputted in your membership profile settings. You may use both versions on an unlimited number of demo accounts.

WARNING #3: We do NOT recommend trading both Pro and 2.5 on the same account!

We use FxOpen for our live micro cent accounts.

Before you can use Forex Hacked, you will need to input your forex account number if you have not already done so in your forexhacked.com account. Please visit http://www.forexhacked.com/membership/login.php

Then you will see a screen like shown below. Take note of your username, you will need to input it into the Forex Hacked EA parameters each time you attach it to a chart. On the right side you will see two fields where you can input account numbers. The first being for the Original Forex Hacked and the bottom one being for Pro version. Set them accordingly and submit to save changes. You can change these account numbers anytime you wish.

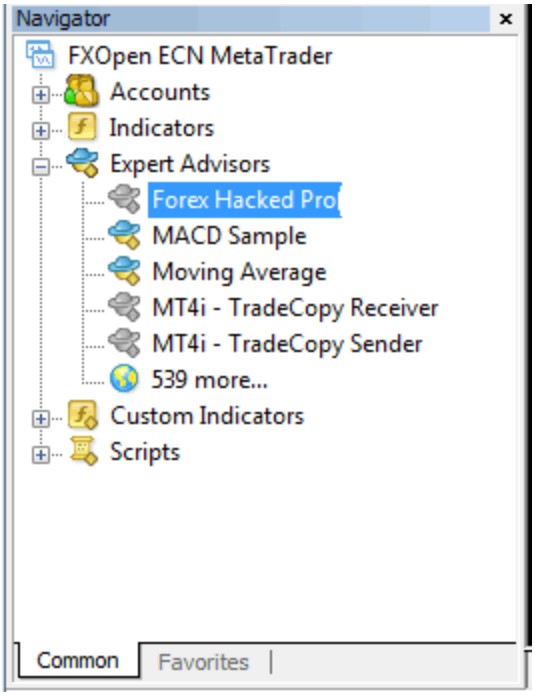

Once that is all set you should go ahead and install Forex Hacked Pro using our .exe executable installer. The only thing you have to do with this installer is when it asks where you want to install to, you should select your Metatrader 4 base folder which might look something like these.

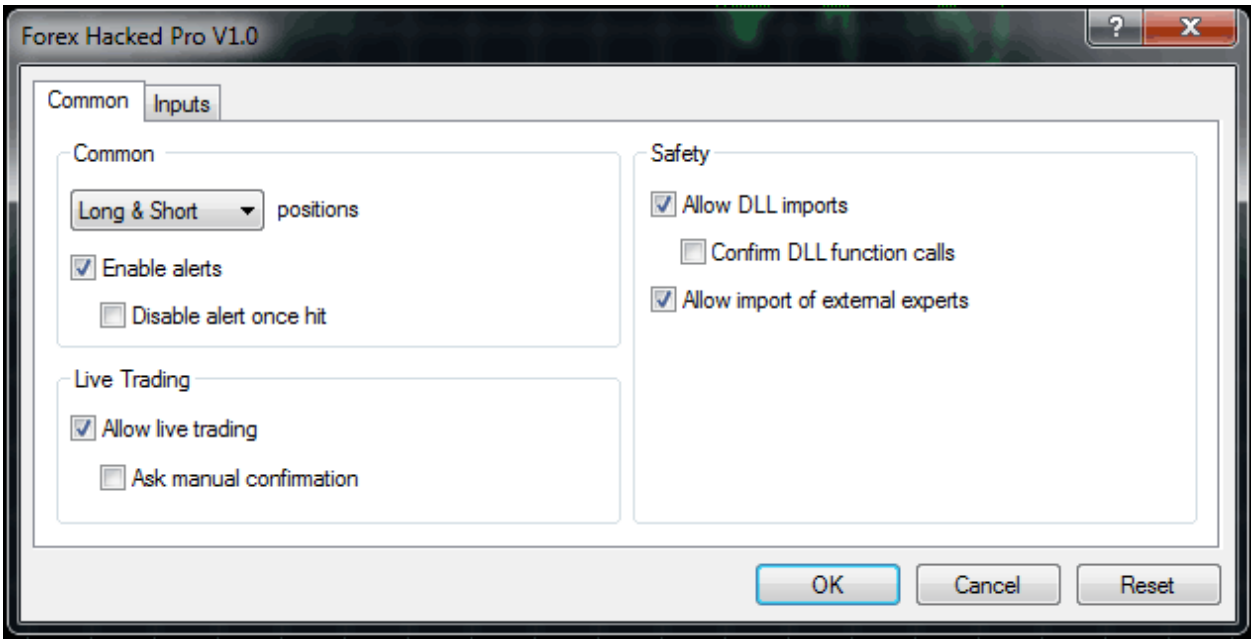

- C:\Program Files (x86)\MetaTrader ECN - FXOpen
- C:\Program Files\MetaTrader ECN - FXOpen
- C:\Program Files (x86)\MetaTrader 4 by ThinkForex

Once the installation is complete you should see the Forex Hacked Pro.ex4 in the /experts folder of that Metatrader 4 folder, and then in /experts/presets you should see a ForexHackedPro-Settings folder, and in /experts/libraries there should be a ForexHackedPro.dll.

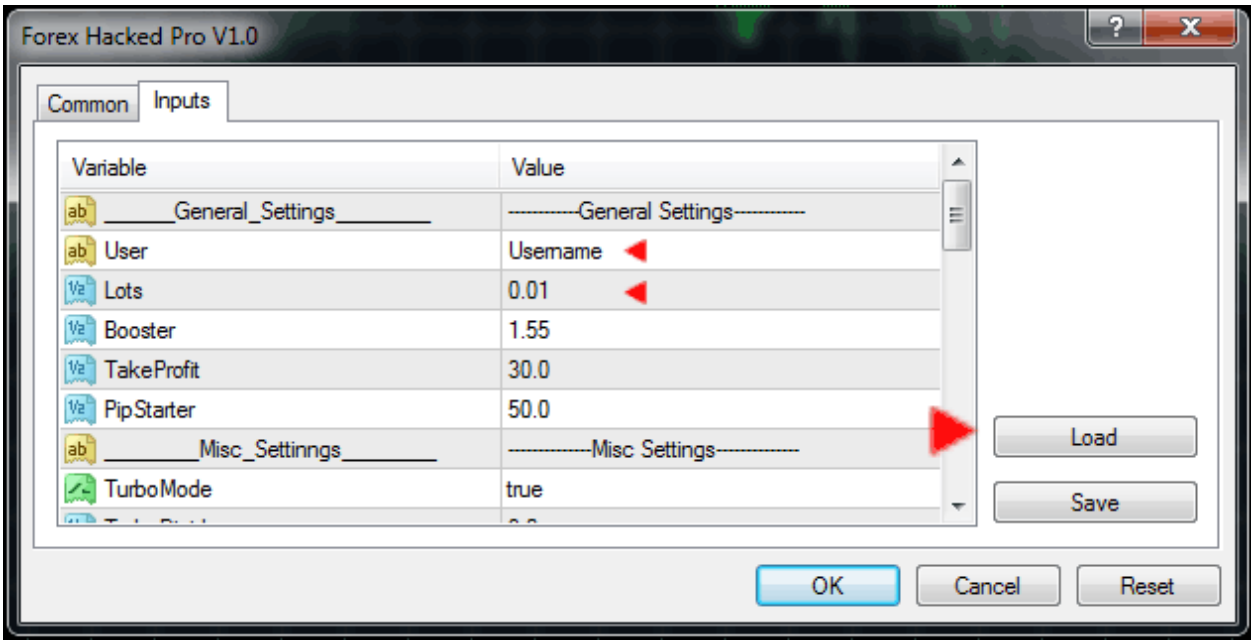

The PDF guides will be installed to the Metatrader 4 base folder.

When you first boot up your Metatrader 4 terminal you will want to look for this Navigator window. (Press Ctrl+N to make it visible if you don't see it. Then under the Expert Advisors tree when you expand it you should see Forex Hacked Pro. This is what you will be dragging and dropping onto your desired charts.

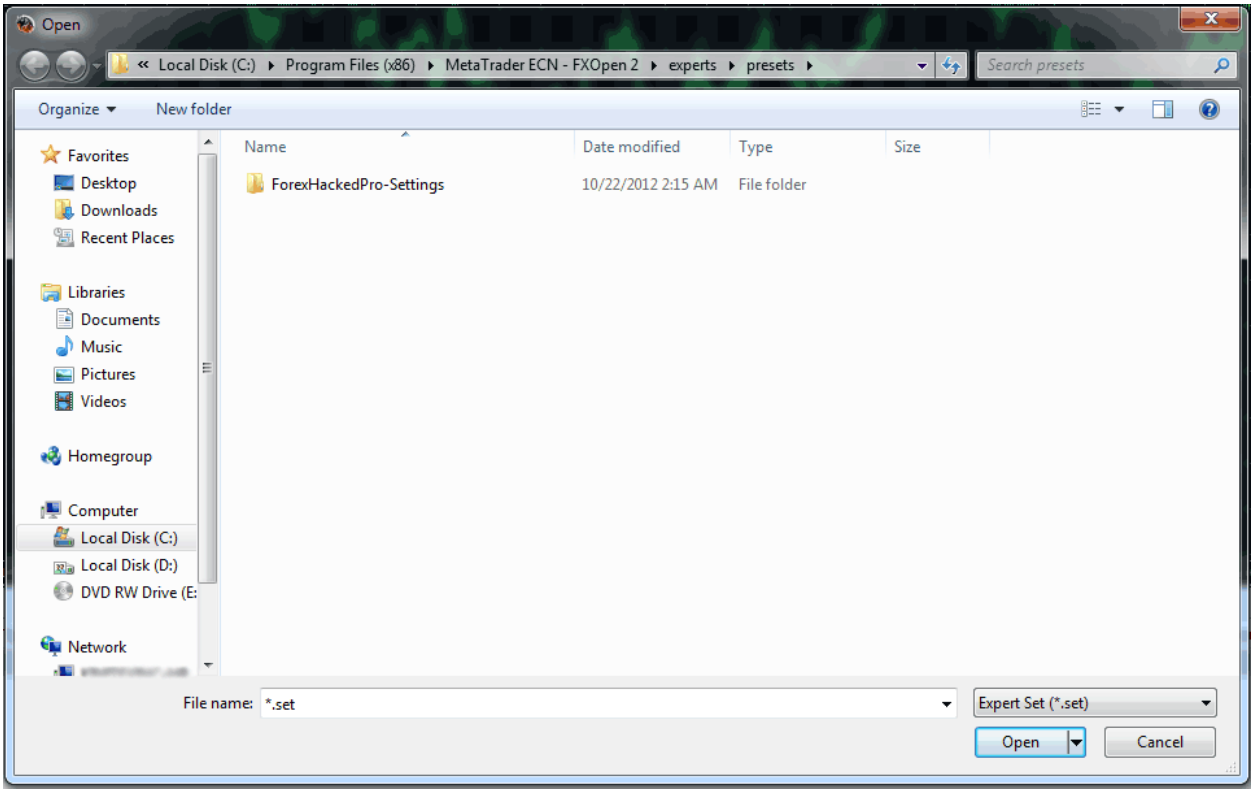

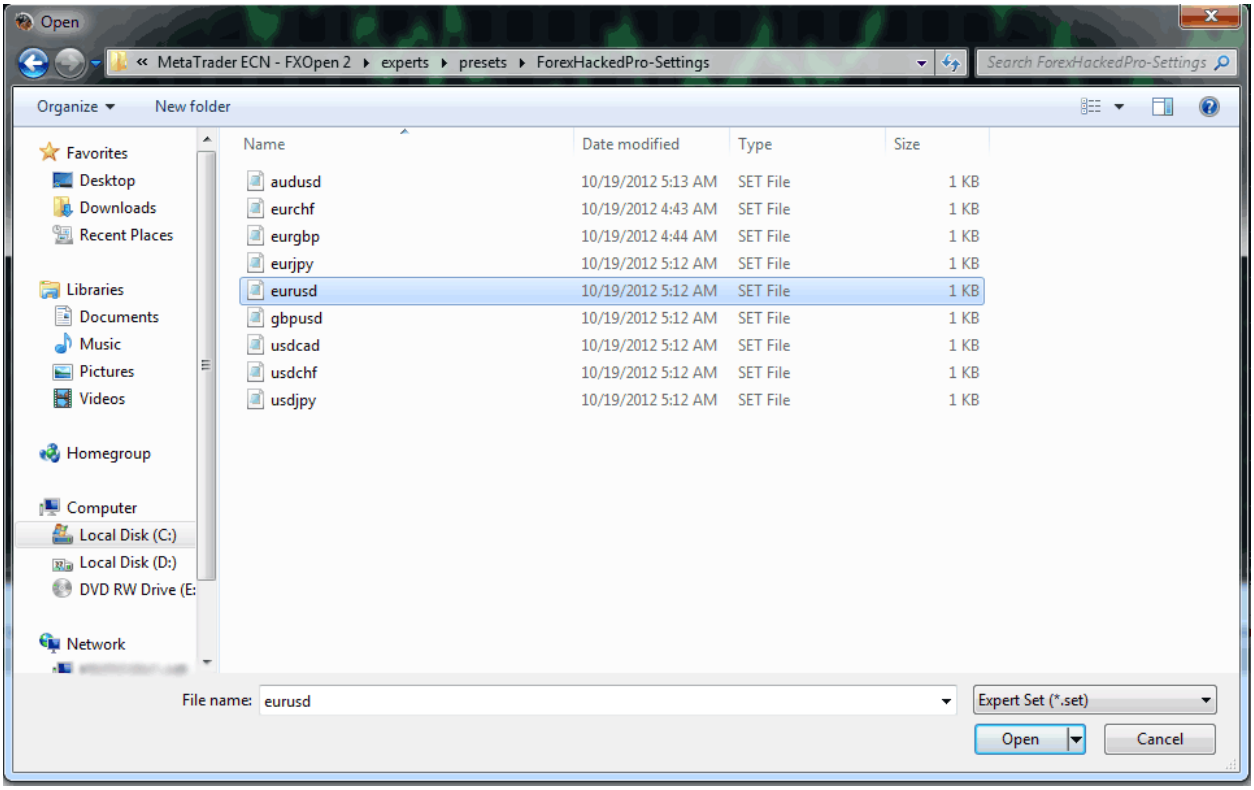

After you attach it to a chart, this may or may not be the first tab(Common or Inputs tabs) you see. Regardless this is what your Common tab needs to look like. Now let's look at the Inputs tab below.

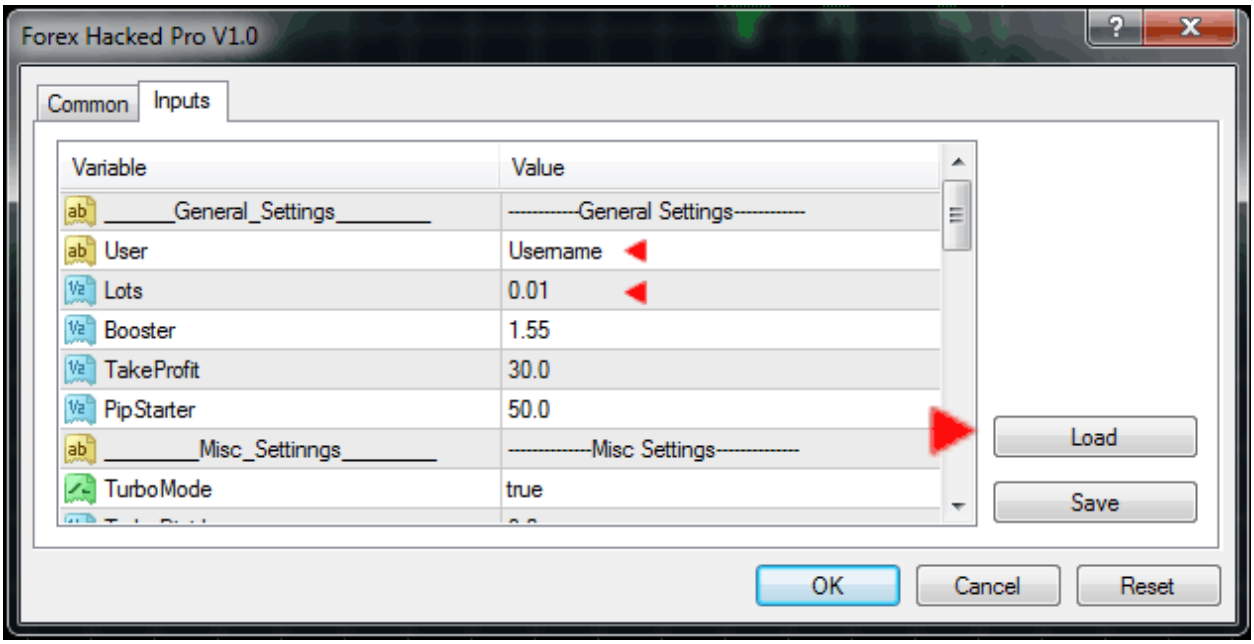

If you are going to be running our optimized settings(highly recommended) then before you change any settings you must first click the Load button. This should bring up an explorer starting in your expert advisors presets folder where if installed correctly you should see a ForexHackedPro-Settings folder like below.

Now select the setting file according to what chart you just attached Forex Hacked Pro to.

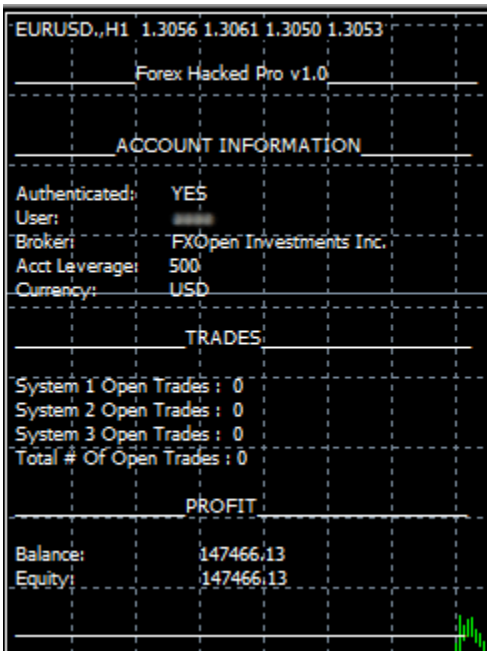

Now you will be back to this Inputs tab and you will have the optimized settings for that currency now loaded. Before clicking OK you will need to make sure that if this is a real money account you're running on you will need to replace Username with your forexhacked.com account name to be authenticated properly.

Forex Hacked Pro will auto detect and use your brokers minimum lot size whether its 0.01 or 0.1. However if your broker minimum is something like 0.05 then you will have to change that manually yourself.

Once you're done all, you can go ahead and save the updated settings file with your updated username and lot size to make things easier in the future.

Then click OK button and after a few minutes you should see this on the top left of your chart if everything was done correctly.

If you get access denied check the following steps.

1. You entered your correct account number you're trading on in your forexhacked.com/membership/login page.
2. You have allow dll imports checked.
3. You entered your correct forexhacked.com account name in the EA's Username setting.

If you're still getting access denied or any other chart errors just e-mail support@forexhacked.com and try to explain your issue with as much detail as possible including all the steps you've done.

How To Update

If you need to install an update of Forex Hacked pro it's very simple. Just download the new .exe from the members area (http://www.forexhacked.com/membership/login). Once downloaded, close your MT4 terminal running Forex Hacked Pro. You don't need to close all your charts, you can leave them and all your trades as is. Once closed, run the new Forex Hacked Pro installer you just downloaded, and select the Metatrader 4 folder you want to install the update to.

That's it, your Forex Hacked Pro files will be updated, and you can restart your MT4 terminal and everything will continue working as usual.
